16th March 2022

It is with great pleasure that we announce Medline International Italy's victory at the LeFonti AWARDS ceremony on 10 March 2022. Medline was recognised in the Excellence in Innovation & Leadership category for medical products for our superior quality of service provided to public health during the second year of the pandemic, distinguishing ourselves in the medical sector.

LeFonti AWARDS identifies the leading companies in their sector by taking into account profits and operations from the past year. The selected companies are then evaluated by the Scientific Committee, Editorial Team and finally by the LeFonti's editor, who announces the winners.

We are proud to receive this award, which reflects Medline's focus on high-quality products and our growing focus on related services, with the goal to improve healthcare professionals' work experience and improve patients' health outcomes.

Congratulations to our fantastic team for all their efforts and teamwork during the pandemic and now. We are confident in their ability to achieve ever greater goals and transform challenges into opportunities.
